Contracts Let For 2 New Dams On Honey Creek

Low bid for the construction of two floodwater retarding structures on Wilson Creek of the East Fork above Lavon watershed, was given by John E. Wright, construction contractor of Talco, Texas.

His bid of $60,545.54 was the lowest of 9 bids for the construction of Sites 1A and 1B, located approximately 5 to 7 miles West of McKinney, Texas, on the C. H. Ray and F. D. Perkins farms and on the C. C. Wade and B. E. Hodges farms. Contracts will likely be awarded and work begun in the very near future. The major items of work consist of the following:

Timber clearing 18.9 acres; excavation 32,040 cu. yds.; placing and rolling embankment 200,800 cu. yds.; salvaging and placing of topsoil in earth spillway 19,700 cu. yds.; concrete 79.75 cu. yds.; furnishing and installing 384 lin. ft. of reinforced concrete pipe and 184 lin. ft. of bituminous coated, galvanized, corrugated sheet metal pipe; and furnishing and installing 6,174 lin. ft. of wire fence.

According to John D. Wells, chairman of the Collin County Soil Conservation District, this will be the first construction work to be done on the flood prevention plans originally made on Wilson Creek in 1949. These structures, together with the two under construction in Honey Creek, will make a total of 22 floodwater retarding structures in this district.

Mrs. Arch Davis continues a patient in Baylor Hospital, Dallas, where she has ben under treatment for some two weeks. Mrs. Davis is the mother of Mrs. Charlie Angel of this city and often visits here where she has a host of friends.

Schools Raise Over $286 For March Of Dimes

O. Ed Smith, Jr., 1957 Campaign Chairman for March of Dimes, reports that the McKinney area schools collected a total of $286.13 in the fight against polio this year.

Largest collection, Smith stated, came from L. A. Scott Junior High School, which turned in $108, of which $79.25 was raised by the seventh grade. Principal George Raymond Smith took a particular interest in a measuring tape project, by which the students measured their height with rolls of Scotch tape and fastened dimes at regular intervals to the tape. Athough there was some extra work involved in disengaging the dimes, Smith felt the effort was well spent in the outstanding collection that was made.

All grade schools participated, and the colections at each school contributed significantly to the total. Moreover, the Lucas Community School sent in a donation through it was not contacted this year, and the Bettye Holloman Private School also contributed in this way. A list of the schools and their contributions follows:

L. A. Scott Junior High, $108.
West Ward, $48.19.
North Ward, $30.81.
South Ward, $29.34.
Doty High and Grade School, $18.16.
East Ward, $17.89.
Central Ward, $16.65.
Bettye Holloman Private School $10.00.
Lucas Community School $7.09.

Smith observed that the little envelopes usually sent home with the students in the school drive were not available this year, and yet the collection held up favorably in comparison with other years. Smith promises that next year each school will again be supplied with the envelopes used in previous years.

Supplies of Corn Hybrids for 1957 Plantings Plentiful.

Corn planting time is just around the corner and that should mean giving consideration to the question of the best corn hybrid for this area. Corn yields in Texas last year on the average were down due to the drouth but adapted hybrids made yields 25 to 30 percent above open pollinated varieties.

Yellow Hybrids adapted for Collin County are Texas 26, 38, 30, 32 and the new Texas 36. The two white hybrids recommended are 17 W and TRF 9.

As for the best planting date, that is hard to determine but soil temperature should be between 55 and 60 degrees F. at seed depth at planting time. Planting should be at a rate to give a plant spacing of 18-24 inches in most upland and 12 inches is recommended for deep fertile bottom land or irrigated soils.

It is the number of ears and weight and not the size of ears that determine yield and profits from corn growing.

Corn doesn't need a lot of cultivation. Plowing should be shallow and only to control weeds. Deep cultivating will cut the feeder roots and actually decrease yields.

Helpful Hints on Fighting Troublesome Insect Pests Available.

Entomologists of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service have prepared informational guides covering control measure for the worst offenders in the insect world.

The recently released series includes L-217, Stored Grain Insects L-218, 1957 Texas Guide for Controlling Cotton Insects; L-219 Ways To Fight the Pink Bollworm and L-245, Texas Guide for Controlling Insects and Diseases of Fruits and Nuts.

The publications are available through the offices of local county extension agents or from the Agricultural Information Office, College Station, Texas.

All have been prepared to save time for those needing information on control programs or practices for combatting the losses which insects cause each year. The control measures are listed in chart form along with the recommended chemicals for dusting and spraying.

The entomologists point out the great need for careful handling of insecticides as well as using control measures before insect infestations become so heavy that control is made difficult and expensive. Too, the entomologists point out that the recommendations given in the new publications are based on research and field findings which not only cover the insect-killing power of the chemical but also such items as residue, safe handling practices and methods and rate of application.

STEPS TO BETTER FAMILY HEALTH

Every family can take steps to insure better physical and mental health in 1957. It will mean financial savings as well as happier living.

The seven important factors to check: good nutrition, sanitation, regular health examinations, immunization, exercise, rest and recreation, an adequate home health center, and a means of achieving the state of radiant health which is the result of complete physical, social and mental well being.

An accepted guide for good nutrition is the Texas Food Standard. Family attitudes toward food and pleasant meal-time atmosphere are as important as kind and amount of food eaten.

Sanitation includes a healthful water supply, safe sewage and garbage disposal, cleanliness around the barn and home, as well as clean milk free from bacteria.

Regular health examinations for mother and father as well as the children are on of the most important steps in improving family health. The family physician can advise about immunization against contagious and infections diseases.

Exercise, rest and recreation is a fifth step. The important thing, is to build toward a family attitude which considers rest and recreation as essential to good health and a waste of time or evidence of laziness.

The sixth step is the maintenance of an adequate home health center. Every family should have supplies, equipment and medicine for the minor illlnesses and emergencies that must be cared for at home.

Many physical and mental ailments are rooted in worry, fear and concern. The seventh step toward achieving a state of radiant health involved "taking out' problems as a family to give assurance and a sense of security to each family member.

When children beg and tease for nickles, dimes and quarters, parents may be using the wrong approach to the problem. Money management has to be learned as does reading, writing or arithmetic. Learning this job, one step at a time, is part of a child's education.

Parents who have tried allowances for children report that usually less money is required than by the unplanned "hand-out" method. Even more important, the child gets valuable training and satisfaction from learning how to get the most for his money. A personal allowance increases a child's pride and interest in cooperating with the family group.

A child needs opportunities to practice making decisions — to weigh wants and needs in terms of what he has to spend. This helps him to develop self-control and respect for the value of money.

He needs to learn the value of savings. The practice of saving a part of his allowance for his larger wants and needs will help him in the future to save for a home, car, furniture, education and emergencies. A plan achieved is encouragement for other plans.

Early training in record-keeping will be helpful throughout life. A simple record of expenditures can be kept by the older child, who earns some of his money or has a larger allowance.

TRAPPER GETS 27 WOLVES IN COLLIN

Wolves were taking a heavy toll of lambs, poultry and other animals in Collin County during the latter part of 1956. As a result of this loss a meeting of Collin County Livestock Producers was held in November in the District Courtroom. From this meeting came a request for a wolf control man to be hired to work in Collin County.

The Commissioner's Court with County Judge W. E. Button agreed to pay ½ of the county funds needed to support such a man. The farm people agreed to raise the balance of the money. A community chairman was selected for each community in the county and these chairman began accepting contributions to the program from sheep, poultry and livestock producers.

Allie C. Strey began work in the county the latter part of November and up to date has killed 27 wolves. He is doing a thorough job and farmers are cooperating in a wonderful way. Before Mr. Strey works a farm he obtains permission from the farm operator and then posts the farm and spreads the word that the farm is being worked so that neighbors may keep up their pets.

Mr. Strey's job is an interesting one in that he gets an opportunity to work closely with nature for the protection of man and his animals. The means of control used by the trapper is a cyanide bomb which kills very quickly and it cannot be discharged by stepping on it. The trigger must be pulled upward to discharge the mechanism. Mr. Strey also uses traps for those wily wolves who will not pull the bomb trigger. He does not use poison. He knows his job well having followed the preditor control profession some 25 years and during that time has worked in much of Texas. His mailing address is Box 64, Princeton and he invites farmers having wolf problems to contact him there.

Sheep producers decided early in the program that it was a worth while endeavor and set themselves a fee of 10c per ewe to keep the program in operation. They and the Commissioner's Court are to be commended for their efforts in furthering the agricultural progress of Collin County.

Mr. Ray Haggard, Plano, Texas is the general chairman of the program with Mr. R. W. Bundick, McKinney serving as treasurer. The following men were selected by the farmers to be the chairman in their respective communities and contributions may be made to the program through them.

LETTERS FROM . . .

THE PEOPLE

McKinney, Texas.
February 19, 1957.

TO THE DAILY COURIER-GAZETTE:

The men who are digging the trenches across and in the sides of the streets for the sewer, water and gas lines ought to tamp the dirt solid when filing the trenches to prevent settling and not to fill the trenches all the way to the top with dirt that causes the streets to get muddy ever time it rains. On the Southside of White Street, between College and Sherman Streets, and on the North Side of White Street, between Church and Kentucky Streets, is plenty of proof that the work was not done right.

I am hoping that the election April 2, 1957, will put men in the City Hall who will see to it that the work is done right.

"Feb. 14 you published a letter signed by a "Walter Buscom," addressed from the Veterans Administration Hospital, McKinney, Texas, where I am also manager.

"The writer, implying that he was an employee of the VA Hospital, objected to the term, "public servant," and revealed attitudes which your answering editorial aptly described as astonishing.

"We in the Veterans Administration are aware of, and take pride in, the fact that we are public servants. Wylie Trims Bells Panthers By Score 53-47

By FRED DICKINSON

The Wylie High Pirates played smart, aggressive basketball to overcome the Bells High Panthers 53-47, at Bells, Tuesday night.

The victory gave the Pirates the bi-district championship and vaulted them into the Regional Class B boys' tournament, at Southern Methodist University, in Dallas this week-end.

His friends claim that Head Coach R. C. Dodd of the Pirates can't sleep after a close game; that he walks the floor to let off steam. If this story is true the affable, capable coach probably wore out two pairs of houseshoes, Tuesday night.

For this was a close, nerve-wracking game that had a big over flow crowd of 750 howling most of the way.

It was an immensely gratifying triumph for Coach Dodd and his assistant, Bobby Darwin. Their big team, not only tall but big and powerful along with it, turned in its best game of the season to overcome Coach Ira Campsey's brilliant team that had won something like 40 games this season and their Grayson County District.

Jerry Cooper, the Maroons' long shot specialist and dribbler extraordinry, won high scoring honors with 17 points. He teamed with David McEuen to give Wylie a fine floorworking combination that fed the ball into the two tall boys, Gene Lamb and John Hickman, who consistently dunked in baskets from fairly close. The Panthers could match Lamb, the six-foot five-inch sophomore star, with a tall boy of their own, John Henderson, a very fine center. But they had no one to cover the other big boy John Hickman, who is only an inch or so less in height. If henderson tried to stop Lamb, Hickman was there and vice versa.

With Cooper hitting twice, Wylie jumped into a 4-0 lead. They still held a 11-9 lead at the end of the first quarter. Through the second quarter they still clung to their paper thin margin winding up the half with a 23-22 lead. They were behind only once, that in the second quarter when Orvill Fletcher, tied it up with a shot from the circle and Bells forged ahead on a free throw by Clinton McGehee and two free throws by Billy Dugan. At this point, Coach Dodd, who has always had remarkable success with his teams in his use of reserves, subtituted Don Self, another sophomore, into the lineup. Self obliged by immediately driving right through the Panther's tough defense for a close shot and a few seconds later hit with a beauty from the corner that put the Pirates ahead again 17-16.

The Collin County champs never lost that lead. They widened it to 39-55 at the end of the third quarter and at one time in the fourth quarter were ahead by ten points. They successfully stalled the last two minutes with Cooper and McEuen doing a fine job of dribling and passing.

Bells presented a polished, well balanced ball club, equally adept at long outside shooting and the jumping type close shots Their scoring was well balanced with Dugan counting 13 points and Henderson and Fletcher, 10 each to lead the count parade, but they couldn't cope with the fine work of Hickman and Lamb in battles under both baskets; they never could break up McEuen's fine jump shot efforts from the free throw circle that netted 10 points. In fact, they were defeated, not badly, but decisively by a big young club that has none of the fumbling faults of a young club and is far more active and a lot better at passing than the usual big club. Bells' sharp underhand knee-high passing from the sidelines around the basket was unusual but not practicularly effective against the stacked defense that Hickman, Lamb and Cooper put up. The Panthers could get the ball in there, but couldn't get up to the basket. On several occasions Lamb knocked a ball away cleanly when the smaller Panthers tried to shoot and he did it without fouling.

His shooting from the side after Cooper faked beautifully to get the ball in there, worked well, and there to use his highth to tip it in—Cooper from the outside, Hickman for the tip-ins, Lamb for the tall man in front of the basket, McEuen from the circle and Self from the corner when things slowed down — this was too much even for a well drilled team like Bells.

The Maroons could go a long way in the regional round and even further than that with good luck. The coaching by Dodd and Darwin for the entire season has been superb. They have brought their club along slowly but evenly. It could be one of the biggest Class B play-offs for a Collin County team.

Wylie Piratettes Win 3rd Straight Championship

By FRED DICKINSON

The Wylie High Piratettes won their third stright district championship with a thrilling 47-46 victory over the Allen High girls at Caldwell gynasium, here, Monday night.

The championship sets the stage for another super battle between the maroon clad charges of Coach R. C. Dodd and the Collinsville girls.

It will be their third straight bi-district battle.

Wylie won in 1955. Collinsville won in 1956 and went on to win the state championship. Both games were settled by 1-point margins.

Gail Dempsey, the Piratette's star forward, scored 42 of her team's 47 points in this victory. In fact, she scored 30 points before her teammates could hit the basket for a counter, but the entire team fought against the steady brilliance of Coach Max Vaughan's blue-clad contingent and despite such a tremendous scoring effort by one forward, this was still a team victory.

For Allen's seniors it was a bitter loss. Five of this team were playing their final game for the blue, and they never played better. Sherley Dugger led the scoring with 27 points.

This was the best of the three games in this series that will probably go down as the best girls' series in the history of the county. The score was tied five times and the last three minutes were a frantic, scrambling display of battling and courage that had the overflow crowd of 850 standing and cheering themselves hoarse.

The issue was still in doubt with only 14 seconds left and Wylie ahead 45-44. At that juncture, Dempsey, who scored from every angle and every distance and seemed unstoppable proved her greatness by calmly sinking two free throws. Allen got the ball into the forward court and Dorothy Moore sank a fine side shot with only 3 seconds left.

It was that close and that well played all the way.

Wylie jumped off to an 8-2 lead in the first four minutes, with Dempsey scoring all the points including one tremendously long side angle field goal. Allen surged back as Moore and Dugger hit side shots and Dugger made two free throws to bring it to 10-5 at the end of the first quarter.

Patsy Wilcox, the tall Allen forward, tied it up with a crip shot in the first minute of the second quarter. Dempsey continued long range shooting and her dribbling—she managed to get by the Allen guards repeatedly in this quarter—gave Wylie a 5-point lead at one point in this quarter. Dugger brought Allen back into contention with free throws and some fine dribling on her own that allowed her to get close to the basket. It was the first time in the three-game series that either Dempsey or Dugger could consistently elude the guard contingent of their opponents, and the situation lasted only for one quarter.

At the half, Wylie led 26-23.

Wylie managed a 38-30 lead five minutes deep in the third quarter, but a minute later, Betty King one of the best guards in Wylie history, fouled out. Coach Dodd had used the same strategy as in the second game of the series playing King at forward in the first half and in the guard court in the second half. But the terific job of holding back the bullet passing of Allen's forward court proved too much, and she committed her fifth foul with 2 minutes left in the third. Allen got back into contention quickly on a long dibbling drive and crip shot by Dugger and two free throws by the same little sharpshooter. Moore tossed in an underhand basket from the side that didn't even touch the backboard, and Dugger's second consecutive set of tow free throws brought the Eagles to a 1-point deficit. With the count 42-40, Wylie tried to work deliberatly in a half-stalling attempt, but Allen stole it away, and Dugger with just a fraction of a second in which to shoot hit beautifully from the free throw line and it was tied again 42-42. Dempsey made a free throw to put the Pirattes ahead once more and Barbara Goen, a grand floor-working forward or guard, who always makes her points count, sank a free throw, too. There was only a minute and 56 seconds left, when Dugger got another split-second chance to fire from the free throw circle and made good with a looping shot.

With only 43 seconds the score tied 44-44, and the big gym a veritable madhouse, Dempsey was fouled and made good on one free throw. Battling to the wire, Allen tried once more desperately but the championship flitted away as Judy Flowers blocked the drive, stole the ball and was fouled as she sped from under the Allen goal. Dempsey's two winning free throws followed.

This was a wonderfully well played game and series. The six Allen girls who started the first game played the entire series without relief. To pick out a star performer for either team in this last bitterly fought battle would be superfluous. They all played like champions. Dempsey's magnificent scoring ability and all-around speed and brilliance that brought those 42 points equalled or bettered anything in county history. Dugger's 13 free throws out of 17 attempts was phenomenal but not more so than her dead-eye shooting through the few openings in the Wylie guard court.

On defense, the entire Allen guard court of Barbara Hedgcoxe, Carlene Mation and Sandra Miller was superb. For Wylie, King and Flowers again spearheaded the defense with greath help from Darla Foster and Charlene Shields. Barbara Goen performed brilliantly at both forward and guard.

For sheer close, hardfought basketball this series will be remembered for a long, long time.

"Sweetheart" Banquet Held At Princeton

The Education Building of the First Baptist Church at Princeton was the scene of a beautifully appointed Sweetheart banquet on Thursday night, February 14. The colors of red and white were used carrying out the motif of cupids. The program theme was "Set me as a seal upon thine heart" and was formal or informal depending upon the guests present. However, most of the guests were in formal attire.

The impressive ceremony was by candlelight with Rev. Troy Corzine, pastor of the church as master of ceremonies. Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Umphress, music director and pianist of the church, had charge of the entertaining.

During the program Mr. Umphress introduced those having a part in making the occasion a success. Several choruses were sung by the group after each had enjoyed a delicious meal prepared by the ladies of the church.

Preceding the message of the evening,. Mr. Umphress gave the special music accompanied at the piano by his wife. Ross Mantooth gave the invocation while Master Bobby Abbott gave the benediction.

There were 115 young people, intermediates, juniors and "their dates" teachers and leaders of the classes, as well as the ladies who prepared the food and served.

Garnett Morrow was crowned King and Thresa Loky was crowned queen of the banquet beneath a beautiful archway embanked with green fern, red and white flowers. The wrought iron arch was furnished through the courtesy of Coffman's Florist.

This is reported to be one of the most beautful and successful banquets ever enjoyed in the church. The Christian fellowship added to the inspiring evening.

The speaker, Chaplain James Parks of the V. A. Hospital, McKinney, delivered a most interesting and inspiring message on how young people can enjoy pleasure and yet it can be pleasure in the Lord's work and not of the things of world pleasure. We wish to express our sincere thanks to Chaplain Parks for being with us and we are looking forward to his return soon.

We also wish to express our thanks to each and everyone who had a part in the banquet and for the Christian Fellowship.

Game Preserve Is Organized In Hebron Community

Citizens of the Hebron community, met and organized the Hebron Game Preserve. The meeting was held at the Community Hall.

Newly-elected officers are M. E. Little, president; Ralph W. Windrowe, vice president; George McKamy, secretary-treasurer. The directors are John McKamy, Roland Jones, Joe Morgan, and Hammond Morgan, Jr., plus the three elected officers.

"Purpose of the Game Preserve is for the preservation of game," Mr. McKamy states. "We have to qualify to obtain game from the State and for the control of hunting."

They will buy signs from a sign company, approved by the Extension Service, showing that their acreage is part of a game preserve. Thirty-six citizens of that community signed up for the game preserve, consisting of approximately 70,000 acres, and more are expected to sign soon.

Their purpose is simply this: To preserve all fur-bearing animals and birds not considered predatory and to qualify the association to obtain game birds from the State Game and Fish Commission.

The boundary at present of the Game Perserve is Highway 121 on the North, Elm River on the west, the Dallas County Line on the south and a narrow strip down the west side of Collin County on the east.

At a meeting of the Board, the group gave the Game Warden authority to arrest anyone hunting in the game preserve without written permission of the land owner, or any member can turn such a person over to the game warden. Mr. McKamy further states that any member not complying with the laws and regulations thus adopted may be disbarred from membership in the association.

It will be remembered that through his leadership, the new exhibit building on the Fair Grounds in McKinney, was financed, and constructed last year. The $10,000 structure was paid for when it was ready for use at the opening of the 1956 County Fair. Mr. Massie devised the plan of financing the construction and worked tirelessly to bring about this new building, a dire need of the Fair Association and other organizations of the county.

Mr. Massie has also been interested in the Boy Scout and other youth programs for many years.

County Hospital Consultant Talks To Group Here

Ross Garrett consultant on planning and equipping the new County Hospital, now under construction here, spoke to members of the City Commission, County Commissioners Court, board of Governors of the City-County Hospital, and of the new County Hospital, as well as doctors of Collin County at a dinner meeting held here Friday evening.

The meeting was held in the Educational Building of the First Methodist Church at 6:30 o'clock and was opened with the invocation by Rev. H. C. Hoy, who also closed the evening's program with prayer.

County Judge W. E. Button presided over the meeting, stating that he was much concerned that all of the people be well acquainted with the purposes and objectives of the new hospital, and the reasons for its being built. "In reality, it is a hospital that belongs to the whole county and not to any individual group. I hope that meetings of this nature will help to bring enthusiasm for the hospital and that the people will want to have a part in its establishment, and an understanding of how it functions."

W. S. Nichols, administrator of to City-County hospital introduced the guest speaker, giving briefly his background in this field of planning and equipping hospitals throughout the nation. In World War II Mr. Garrett was advisor to the Surgeon General of the U. S. Army in Hospital Services. He has been advisor to more than 175 hospital governing boards in organizing, raising funds, planning, building and equipping their institutions and has worked in this field for more than 30 years.

The text of Mr. Garrett's talk, follows:

"You are to be congratulated for having begun an expansion of hospital facilities. I am proud to be associated with you in the planning of the facilities and in the equipping of the plant. It is vital that you now make certain that your objectives will be clean cut and that they will meet the needs of the community. It is equally important that your objective be ever kept uppermost as you go into organization of the new hospital. Throughout the ages, the accumulation of knowledge has been recorded and we have this knowledge to aid us in planning for the opening of this new hospital plant.

"First, it is important that we establish proper lines of responsibility. It is a well established principle of hospital operation that the owners must morally and legally assume responsibility for the operation of the hospital. In this instance, the owners are the people of the county and ownership is legally represented by your commissioners court. The court has now appointed a six man board to legally represent them. It becomes the responsibility of this board to employ an administrator who will employ qualified personnel at the proper time who will in turn perform the various duties assigned them on the basis of their qualification for the benefit of the patients. Adequate financial records are the responsibility of the administrator who will also be responsible for all of the services of the hospital through responsibility delegated by him to certain department heads. The board, too, is responsible for the keeping of adequate medical records and must further assume full legal responsibility for the care of patients admitted to the hospital.

"Hospitals are diagnostic and treatment centers where all in a community may come to as a one stop or one 'port of call', for the purpose of diagnosis, treatment, and the prevention of illness.

"The Medical Staff is a part of the organizational plan as is a self-policing body whose members are appointed by the Board of Governors. The appointments are made on a yearly basis and done so on the recommendation of the Medical Staff itself. They establish their own policies, rules and regulations; these policies, rules and regulations being subject to approval of the Governing Board. Once appointed by the Governing Board, it is up to the Medical Staff to police itself and to see that the policies, rules, and regulations are carried out. Failure to conform to their own rules and regulations, as approved by the Governing Board, may result in failure of appointment the next successive year. The Medical Staff is responsible to the Governing Board and the Governing Board may result in failure of appointment the next successive year. The Medical Staff is responsible to the Governing Board and the Governing Board is vulnerable and responsible for what goes on in a hospital. This is being unheld in the courts now that the owner, or owners, are directly responsible. The Medical Staff elects officers and they form committees to check Medical Records and the clinical work of the members. One important committee is the Tissue Committee, formed for the purpose of checking to see that normal tissue is not removed, by accident, and if these accidents happen too frequently, then this would be considered as faulty diagnosis and the tissue committee would make such a report to the Medical Board. The bylaws should state that further privileges are not allowed until report of accountability is made.

Emergency service is emphasized especially when Federal money is involved and certain things must be set forth concerning this service and the Governing Board is responsible for the enactment of this. Emergency service must be provided for.

"The Medical Staff is made up of Active members, or Attending members, and Courtesy Staff members. Active staff members are responsible for the self-governing of the Medical Staff, are privileged to hold office and to vote, and from the Active Staff must come the chiefs of service, i. e., Medicine Surgery, Obstetrical, Pediatrics, and Emergency Service. Courtesy Staff members have the privilege of practicing in the hospital, as set forth in the bylaws, but have none of the previously mentioned privileges. Thus, the members of the Active Staff must be responsible for seeing that emergency service is carried out and the patients cared for, with the understanding that whether or not the patient can pay or not, that is a service for which they are responsible.

"Referring to the Operational Chart — the broken lines indicate participation, selfpolicing, etc., and these so represented have no authority. The solid lines indicate jurisdiction and authority. The broken lines indicate direct accountability to the Governing Board of the hospital.

"There is a Joint Conference Committee initiated between members of the Governing Board and the Medical Staff. This gives an opportunity for consideration of problems which may boil up in the Medical Staff, where members of the Medical Staff and the members of the Governing Bord may sit down together and bring up these problems for discussion. The administrator acts as liaison and participates in all meetings — in the meetings of the Medical Staff, in the meetings of the Governing Board, and in the Joint Conference Committee meetings. Any changes in policy, changes in rules and regulations, as well as any problems, can be brought up before this committee. This committee has no authority, is strictly a place to 'let down hair.' Every hospital has something in the way of problems, at one time or another. And this committee is the place for airing these problems. The bylaws should specify that this committee meet just prior to the regular monthly meeting of the Governing Board so that the Governing Board will have an opportunity then to know the latest information, problems, etc.

"It has already been demonstrated in this community that the people support the hospital by the voting of bonds for building a new hospital. A continuation of interest is needed so that what they had in mind can be further carried out

One way of doing this is by organization of a Women's Auxiliary for the hospital. The women of the community are members of this auxiliary by virtue of paying dues. They have their own board, their own constitution and bylaws, and are members of the State Hospital Auxiliary. The Administrator is again expected to meet with this group and work with them and advise them. The auxiliary can see to many things in the hospital and help to make things more comfortable and work more evenly. Voluntary service is invaluable to a hospital. One hospital, for instance, in a small farming community, now has a membership of over 700 members in the Women's Auxiliary. They are responsible, for one thing, for a Hospitality Shop where anything from a toothbrush or a comb, on up, may be purchased should one find himself caught short. Many articles are made by the members of the auxiliary and sold through the shop. This particular auxiliary cleared over $5,000.00 the last quarter of the year they invested one-fourth of this amount in supplies for the shop and purchased equipment for the hospital with the rest of the money. They have cleared over $12,000.00 during the past year. There are many other services which auxiliary members perform and no monetary value can be put on these services.

Another auxiliary of a small hospital has worked out a plan whereby they make arrangements for a relative of out-of-town patients, particularly in case of accidents. The relatives are met on arrival in town, a place to stay is found for them, and transportation, if needed is arranged for. This is a novel and original idea for this group and is to be written up in a national magazine in the near future.

"These are only two instances of service by voluntary service groups — many more things can be worked out. There are also many things which can be done by Civic Clubs, even after the hospital is put into operation.

"It is the belief of many that the operation of a hospital is a simple thing. At one time it was a simple thing but this is no longer true. The operation of a hospital is a complex thing, dealing with human problems as well as being a center for diagnosis, treatment, and the prevention of illness.

"Organization in the fashion of the Organizational Chart is a workable plan. You will note that the Judge is the top person in this organization, then he in turn shares responsibility with the Commissioners who come from the different areas in the community. The Governing Board is diretly responsible to the Judge, the Administrator is responsible to the Governing Board and he acts as liaison between all groups. There is no way of relieving the Governing Board of the responsibility of the operation of the hospital. The only way to escape responsibility would be to not be a member of the Governing Board but this is almost inevitable as there are certain men in a community who are gifted as to leadership and who can give of their time and energy to the performance of duties as a member of the Governing Board. These men are interested in making the community a better place in which to live and this is one of the ways of doing this.

"I am presenting this plan as a plan which has been found to work successfully in other hospitals. Most of the time when the formula does not work it is because it is not known, is not understood, or perhaps is known and understood but not adhered to. There is no deviation from a clear-cut line of responsibility and accountability. To know the When, What, and Why of the Plan is necessary and then there will aways be a place to climb back to. As many times as we have different types of personalities getting together, then just this many times we find that there are difficulties in deciding on a way of doing things and reaching a complete understanding. If everyone understands his responsibility and sticks to the rules and regulations, then things will work out, and the best interest of the people will be served."

Friday Is Deadline For Signing Cotton Acreage Agreements

All farmers having "old farm" acreage allotments for cotton are eligible to participate in the 1957 Soil Bank Acreage Reserve Program. The sign-up, according to P. L. Barksdale, Office Manager, Collin County A.S.C. will continue through Friday, March 1, 1957.

To be eligible for payments, the farmer must comply with any acreage allotment established for his farm. Farmers who take part in the Acreage Reserve for cotton will sign agreements calling for a reduction in the farm acreage of cotton below the allotment. In return for reducing cotton acreage, the Secretary of Agriculture will make payments based on the productivity of the land put in the Reserve. Land put in the Acreage Reserve is described and specifically designated for the Reserve in the agreement signed by farmers.

Producers are cautioned that land placed in the Acreage Reserve is not to be grazed or any crop harvested from the acreage designated.

It will be necessary for the cotton produced to call at the County A.S.C. Office, 123 S. Tenn. St., McKinney, Texas in order to sign an agreement and designate the acreage to be placed in the Acreage Reserve.

Don't forget - Final Date for signing agreements - Friday, March 1, 1957.
